Director General's Remarks

I am most delighted to present to you the Commission's fourth quarter 2022 report, which highlights significant developments in the pension industry. This Report provides industry stakeholders and the general public with details of strategic activities that focused on ensuring the prompt payment of retirement benefits, as well as efforts aimed at promoting a vibrant and sustainable pension industry that positively impacts the Nigerian economy.

I would like to commend the sustained efforts of the Staff and Management of the Commission, which ensured the achievement of the Commission's medium and long-term objectives. I am also delighted to mention that despite the overwhelming head-winds in the global economic climate and the country's challenging macroeconomic environment, the Pension Fund Assets under Management (AuM) increased by ₦568.33 billion from ₦14.42 trillion as 30 September 2022 to ₦14.99 trillion as at 31 December 2022. This laudable performance, in the growth of the AuM, points to the fact that the pension industry will continue to deliver value and benefit to its stakeholders and the nation's economy.

During the reporting period, the Commission stepped up its efforts to ensure sustainable investment by pension funds in alternative asset classes and structured infrastructure projects that meet the strict requirements of the Pension Fund Investments Regulation. We continued our efforts to ensure further diversification of investments in pension fund portfolio assets. While rising inflation continues to challenge the Nigerian economy, it should be noted that efforts are being made to ensure average annual pension fund returns for RSA and legacy funds exceed headline inflation.

This significant achievement in the Nigerian pension industry would not have been possible without the right people, strategy, culture and governance structure to support delivering consistent and sustainable value to all stakeholders. We reiterate our unwavering commitment to meeting the needs of our stakeholders, providing best practice in pension regulation and supervision in Nigeria

Thank you.

Aisha Dahir-Umar
Director-General

SECTION ONE

1.0 OPERATING ENVIRONMENT

1.1 Macroeconomic Development

The Nigerian economy has exhibited steady but low growth since the Covid-19 pandemic induced recession of 2020. The economy grew by 3.11% in Q1:2022 and 3.54% in Q2:2022. The growth during the period was indicative of the economy's response to the post pandemic fiscal and monetary policy actions targeted at stimulating growth. The growth was majorly driven by Agriculture, ICT, Trade and Manufacturing.

Oil revenues has also picked up with recovery in global oil prices but did not translate into growth in revenue as gains from the price rally were offset by local subsidy payment on petroleum, as well as the largescale theft in the oil and gas sector that resulted in the reduction of revenue and foreign exchange to the country.

In line with the turnout of global events, the domestic economy has witnessed rising inflation, as the rate of inflation increased from 20.77% in September 2022 to 21.34% in December 2022. The Monetary Policy Committee (MPC), in their quest to contain the raising inflation rate, increased the monetary policy rate (MPR) from 15.50% in September, 2022 to 16.50% in December 2022 and retained the Cash Reserve Ratio (CRR) at 32.50% to help curb the increase in domestic money supply in order to moderate exchange rate pressures by incentivizing the retention of foreign capital and credit lines. However, inflationary pressures are expected to continue particularly with the election cycle ahead and further development in global inflation trend.

1.2 Developments in the Capital Market

1.2.1 The Stock Market

Activities on the Nigerian Bourse witnessed an increase in Q4: 2022 as the All Share Index (NSE-ASI) and Market Capitalization closed at 51,251.06 points and ₦27.92 trillion, compared to 49,024.16 points and ₦26.45 trillion in Q3 2022 indicating a gain of 4.54% (ASI) and 5.56% (Mkt Cap), respectively.

In spite of rising inflation and interest rate hike, Nigeria's equity market ended 2022 on a positive note as the NGX All-Share Index appreciated by 19.98% to end 2022 with 51,251.06 points this was likely due to increased buying pressure particularly in blue-chip stocks. Stocks had posted losses in the prior months in H2 of 2022 before rallying in November and December of 2022 with 8.72% and 7.50% respectively. The losses were affected by foreign investors selling off stocks due to scepticism created by the build up to the 2023 general election tensions. This reduced foreign investor participation and retail investors contributed to the losses.

Local equity investors gained about ₦5.6 trillion or 19 per cent in 2022. The figure is, however, higher than the marginal 5.7 per cent growth recorded in 2021.

1.2.2 The Bond Market

According to the S&P/FMDQ Sovereign Bond Index, which tracks the performance of sovereign debt publicly issued by the Federal Government of Nigeria, increased by 3.34% as it increased from ₦594.46 Billion as 30 September 2022 to ₦614.29 Billion as at 31 December 2022. The Monetary Policy Committee increased the policy rate (MPR) by 100 bps from 15.50% to 16.50% in the month of November 2022, in order to curb the rising inflation rate in the economy that was caused by the rising cost of energy due to the Russian Ukraine war. The increase in the MPR resulted in increase in short-and-medium-term yield.

As at the end of the 4th Quarter of 2022, there was no record of the State fulfilling its monthly commitment of remitting ₦2 billion for the months of October, November and December 2022. Only a total sum of ₦7.83 billion was so far redeemed as against the expected sum of ₦26 billion during the period. 2.3.5 Congratulatory Letter to the Executive Governor of Ekiti State

The Commission wrote a letter to the new Executive Governor of Ekiti State, His Excellency Biodun Oyebanji, congratulating him on his swearing in as the Executive Governor of the State. 2.3.6 Update on the Amendment of River State Pension Reform Law 2019

The Rivers State Government informed the Commission in October 2022 of the amendment of the Rivers State Pension Reform Law 2009 to further extend the transition period by another (3) years from June 2022 to July 2025.

The current amendment implies that all active employees of Rivers State who made contributions under the Contributory Pension Scheme (CPS) and those due to retire under the CPS up to 30 June 2025, have been transited to the Defined Benefits Scheme (DBS).

2.3.7 The Status of Refund on Zamfara State Funds

Messrs Royal Rocks Consulting Limited, Consultants to the Zamfara State Government raised some observations on the Commission's report on the refund of pension contributions to the Zamfara State Government and its employees. After a review of the Comments, the Commission responded to the Consultants stating that the observed discrepancies in the initial amount expected to be refunded by PFAs and the actual refunds were largely due to incomes that accrued on the RSAs balances before the transfers were made to the State Government and its employees.

2.3.8 Retreat on 2022 Pension Management System for Stakeholders and Pension Desk Officers

The Commission acceded to a request by the Honorable Minister of State (FCT), Dr Ramatu Tijani Aliyu, for the Commission to facilitate a retreat programme organized by the FCT Area Council Pension Board for Stakeholders and Pension Desk Officers of the FCT. 3.4 Financial Market Outlook for Q4 2022

The global economy in 2022 witnessed slow recovery from the residual effects of the COVID-19, the distortionary effect of the protracted Russia-Ukraine War, the resurgence of COVID in China and restrictive policy actions of central banks aimed at moderating inflation.

The significant subsidy payment regime in Nigeria and the inability of the country to maximize oil production volume limited potential benefits from periodic elevated oil price levels during the year. Furthermore, persistent exchange rate pressure and friction in capital mobility weakened the competitiveness for international capital. Consequently, the Nigerian economy maintained a steady but low economic growth, largely accounted for by the non-oil sector.

Quarterly Growth indices in the Nigeria capital market indicated stable movement in yields as the average yield on 10-year government bonds increased slightly from 13.35% in September 2022 to 13.82% in December 2022. The equity market witnessed appreciation in stock prices as the Nigeria All Share Index appreciated by 8.03% during the period as investors took strategic positions in dividend paying stocks.

Furthermore, the Nigerian economy witnessed sustained inflationary pressure as the inflation rate increased slightly to 21.34% in December 2022 compared to 20.77% in September 2022. The inflationary pressure and expected election spending resulted in an increase in the Monetary Policy Rate from 15.50% in September 2022 to 16.50% November 2022 and 17.50% in January 2023. The inflationary pressures due to sustained elevated levels of election spending would elicit a retention of current contractionary monetary policy measures by the Central Bank of Nigeria.

Pension funds are expected to increase as higher yields on investment in fixed income securities would raise nominal returns. Consequently, pension managers would increasingly move to safer assets as they rebalance their portfolios in favour of less volatile fixed income securities while evaluating the equity market for undervalued stocks.
